

3RD Anniversary
OVERSEAS

THE

Outlaw

SCOUT

SPECIAL EDITION

814th ENGINEER AVIATION BATTALION

Lt. Col. Vernon Y. Cain Battalion Commander

Foreword

Three years ago we embarked for our tour of foreign service a little apprehensive of our future but confident of our ability to produce the desired results when the chips were down. Our training had fitted us to play our part in support of the war effort, to which our nation and our nation's resources were committed, to determine whether or not Democracy, our way of life, would survive. Our nation gave us not only the best equipment produced but trained us to use it efficiently. With quiet determination we set out to prove to our fellow countrymen that their investment in us would pay dividends and that we were capable of performing our primary mission.

For three years we have been a part of the never-ending chain of events—new faces, new scenes, and new countries. We have received an education in world travel. We have learned from experience why our country is the best and our way of living worth defending—worth our sacrifices in its defense.

However, our primary mission is to keep the planes flying, regardless of the obstacles, thereby permitting uninterrupted hammering with tons of bombs, not only the enemy soldier, but also every enemy factory, plant, and installation until his war machine is destroyed.

By the combined efforts of all Allied Forces our European foes have been destroyed. All officers and men are to be commended for their part in this decisive victory. Your complete cooperation, individual initiative, and personal ingenuity have enabled us to accomplish our primary mission with speed and thoroughness in spite of many difficulties.

I am confident that those of us who are chosen to participate actively in the war against our remaining enemy will do so with the same zeal and determination that brought success to us in the past.

It is with pleasure that I commend all personnel of this battalion for the excellent manner in which our primary mission has been accomplished during our three years overseas service. We all have reason to be proud that our job has been well-done, and that as a battalion we accomplished our primary mission without exception.

Vernon Y. Cain

STAFF OFFICERS

Front row, left to right: Lt. Jecmen, Med Adm Officer; Capt. Parker, Surgeon; Lt. Col. Cain, Bn Comdr; Capt. Cuellar, Chaplain; Lt. Webber, Asst Engineering Officer.

Back row, left to right: Lt. Eldridge III, Personnel Officer; Capt. Bremner, Adjutant; Capt. Spencer, Bn Supply Officer; Capt. Masterson, Engineering Officer; Capt. Stolcis, Dental Officer; Lt. Phifer, Asst Bn Supply Officer.

AWARDS & DECORATIONS

LEGION of MERIT

Lt. Col. A.P. Little, Jr.
 Lt. Charles S. Long
 S Sgt. Frank J. Maness
 Tec 4 William S. Bush

PURPLE HEART

Maj. Cyril C. Train
 Sgt. Theodore A. Benson
 Sgt. Kenneth A. Bishop
 Tec 5 Raoul Fabre
 Pfc. William H. Brink

SOLDIERS MEDAL

Lt. Col. A. P. Little, Jr.
 Capt. Bert. R. Scott, Jr.
 Lt. Robert E.L. Parker
 Tee 5 John Mauch, Jr.

H&S Company

1st Sergeant Pearce

Capt. Morse Co. Commander

Lt. Hysong    Lt. Vaughn    Lt. Ford    Lt. Sheehan

EX-1ST SGT.s

Sam Beach

Caldwell Tate

EX- C.O.s

Capt. Alfred W. Haines

Capt. Francis M. Libershal

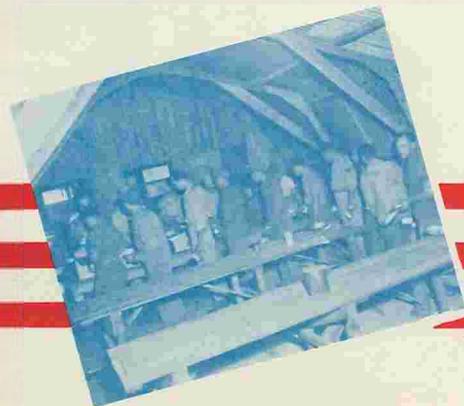

Lt. Robert E. L. Parker

Capt. Courtney L. Stone

Capt. Claude V. Pevey

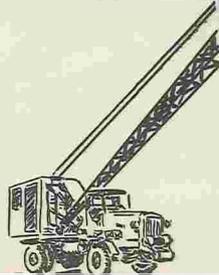

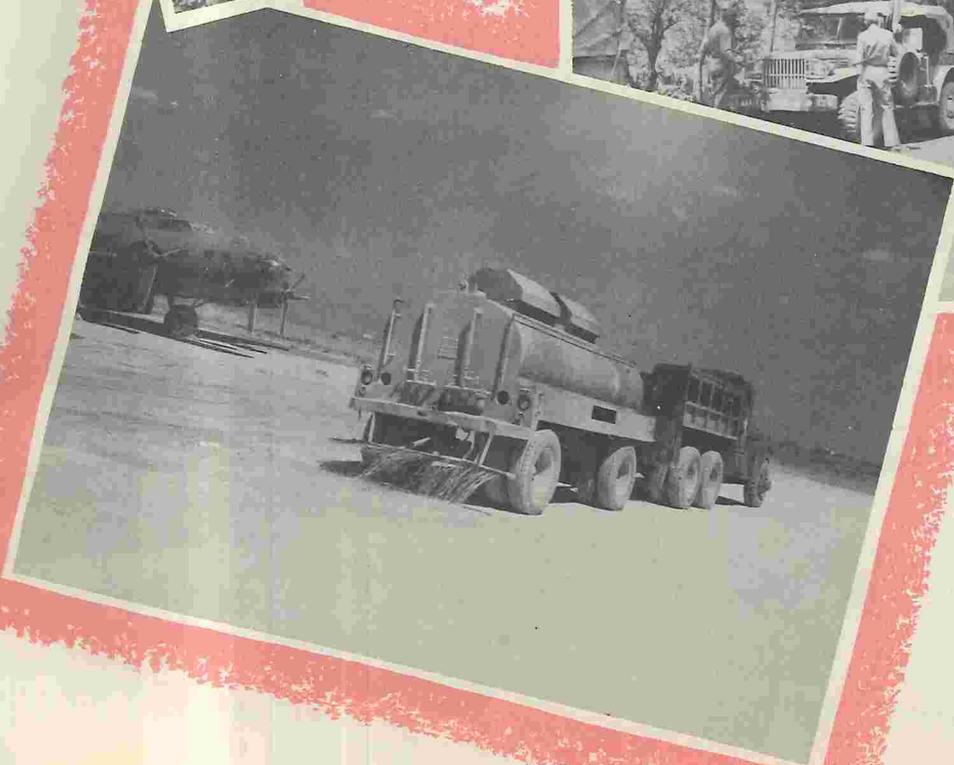

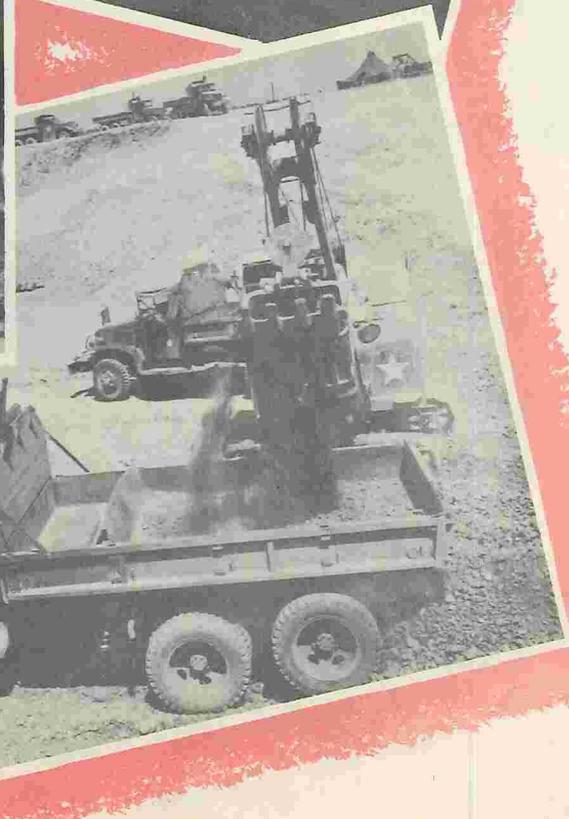

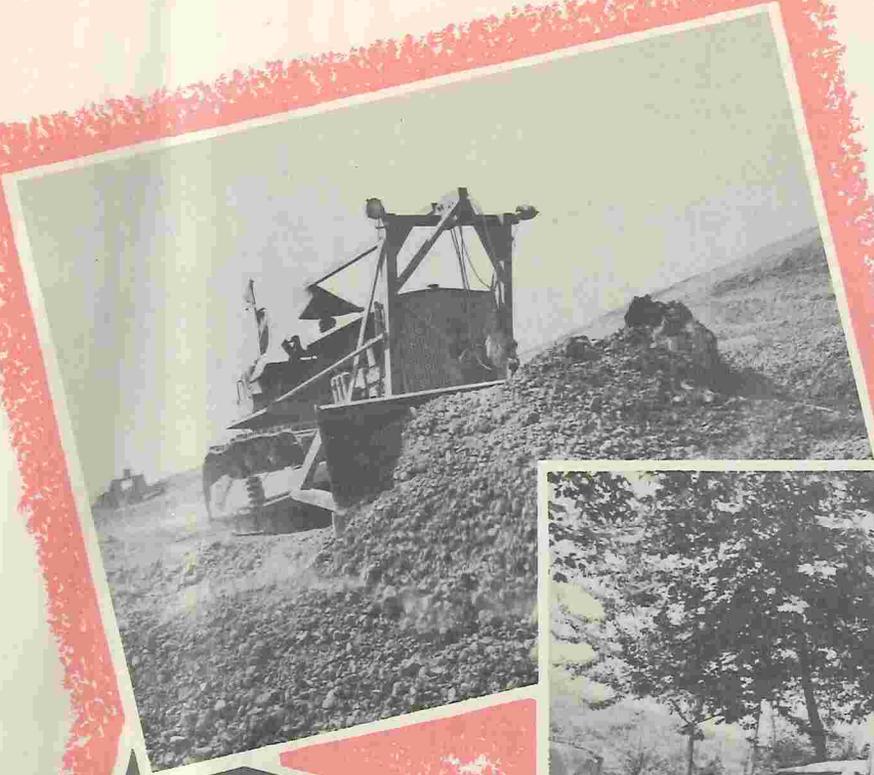

HEADQUARTERS PLATOON

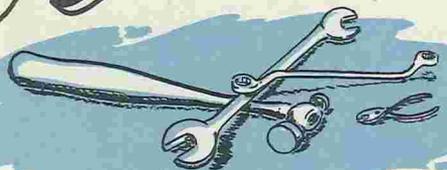

Transportation
Platoon

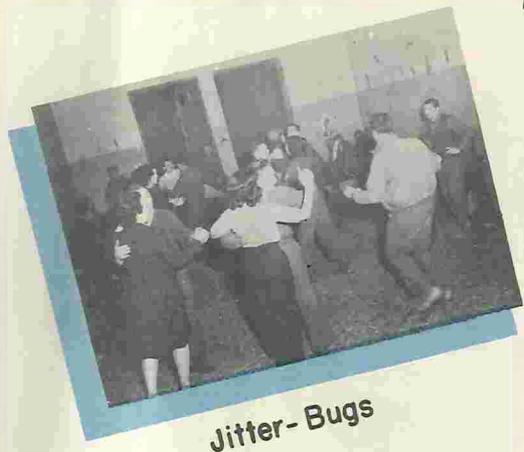

Repair
Section

Hq. Company Activities

Jitter-Bugs

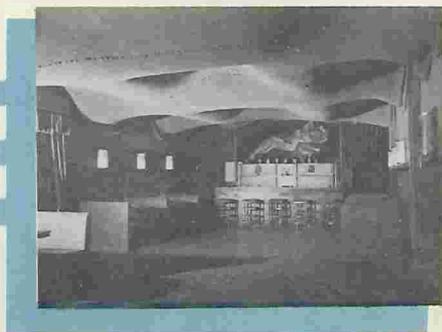

Hut-Two-Three-

Xmas 1944

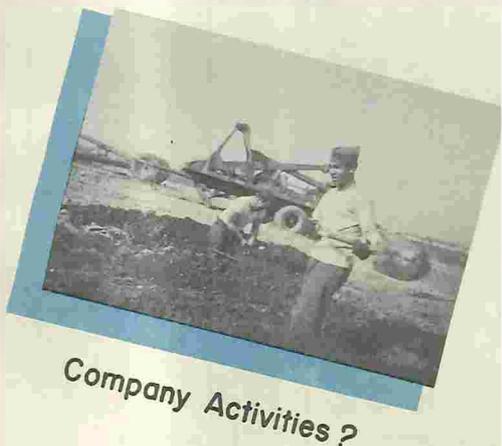

"I Do"

Our Bar

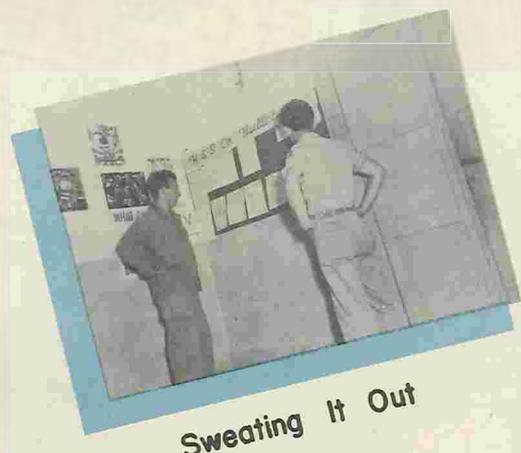

Decorations

Company Activities?

The Necessary Evil!

Sweating It Out

A Company

Commanded by

CAPT. HAROLD H. KELLY
CAPT. VIRGIL O. POWELL
CAPT. CLAUDE V. PEVEY

Officered by

LT. STONE	LT. HACKETT
LT. WATKINS	LT. LAMBERT
LT. VAUGHN	LT. STOCKTON
LT. HORST	LT. LETTS
LT. LONG	LT. EMERSON
LT. PIERCE-RUHLAND
LT. PATTERSON
LT. WINKELMEYER

GORDON E. HENDRICKSON

COMPANY COMMANDER

PLATOON OFFICERS

LT. SETTLE

LT. CHRIST    LT. NASH

1ST SGT. WM E. ALBERT

EX- TOP KICKS

JOHN MASON • BONNIE WOODARD •

WILLIAM KEETON •

EX- ENLISTED MEN

Bago	Foster	Mason
Bailley	Garcia	McCoy
Barnett	Garnett	McDonald, J.
Baxter	Garza	Malvin
Benson	Glover	Miller
Berry	Goodman	Minor
Blaylock	Gusman	Montero
Bonilla	Hallman	Nunes
Boyd	Heise	Owen
Brackett	Hererra	Ozardich
Breanz	Hill	Ozanne
Bru baker	House	Panasiewicz
Bryson	Howe	Patarozzi
Buckovitch	Hay	Pearson
Bykari	Hughes, E.	Pietrak
Call	Hynick	Reaves
Carlson	Johnson, W.	Richmond
Clark	Karczewski	Riggins
Clemenson	Keith	Roper
Collier	Kinneman	Rudd
Crumens	Kleinhole	Rybak
Cunningham	Koeppe	Sacco
Damon	Kummer	Sallis
Dawson, W. S.	Lang	Schmid
DeSanto	Larsen	Scholes
Doman	Lawson	Shaw
Ekstrom	Levi, C. D.	Tanner
Elliot	Levi, T. S.	Tapp
Ericson	Light	Voorhees
Ervin	Lindner	ward
Astrada	MacArthur	Weber, W.
Averingham	Makosak	Williams
Fiese	Mangini	Wiles
Fornes	Markham	Zimmerman

WHERE and WHEN

TRAPANI BIZERTE
MARCH FIELD
LONDON
CAPE BO
ORAN LIVERP
FOGGIA
ALGIERS
NAPLES
PALERMO
TUNIS
ROME
BRIDGE
SALERNO
KASSERIN
CELONE

11 Feb. 1942	TO	20 May 1942	March Field, Calif.
20 May	"	24 "	Enroute to Fort Dix.
24 "	"	"	Fort Dix, N.J.
1 July	"	1 July	At sea, aboard "Miloja".
13 "	"	12 "	Landed at Liverpool, England.
14 "	"	13 "	Clyde River, aboard Dunnotter Castle.
28 "	"	27 Oct.	Landed at Oran, Algeria, and marched
1 Nov.	"	31 "	to La Senia Airfield.
13 "	"	12 Nov	Fafarourt, Algeria.
"	"	13 "	Nouion, Algeria.
13 "	"	23 "	Maison Blanche, Algeria.
23 "	"	14 Dec.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Algeria.
1 Dec.	"	14 "	Kasserine, Tunisia.
14 "	"	1 Jan 1943	Yonke-Les-Bains (Retreat)
1 Jan. 1943	"	6 "	Ain Beida, Algeria.
16 Feb.	"	16 "	Kasserine, Tunisia.
22 "	"	22 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
3 Mar. 1943	"	3 March	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
7 Apr. 1943	TO	7 Apr.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
18 May	"	18 May 1943	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
27 "	"	27 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
10 July	"	10 July	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
11 "	"	11 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
5 Aug.	"	5 Aug.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
7 "	"	7 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
10 "	"	9 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
11 "	"	11 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
13 Oct.	"	13 Oct.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
25 "	"	25 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
27 "	"	27 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
30 "	"	30 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
31 "	"	31 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
28 June 1944	"	28 Jun. 1944	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
28 Jul.	"	28 Jul.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
16 Aug.	"	16 Aug.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
30 "	"	30 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
2 Sept.	"	2 Sept.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
3 "	"	3 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
14 "	"	13 "	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
"	"	16 Oct.	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.
17 Dec. 1944	TO	1 July 1945	Yonke-Les-Bains, Tunisia.

At sea, aboard LST 350.
Enroute to Bagnoli, Italy.
Triola, Italy.
Triola, Italy.
Mandola, Italy.
Sbold, Italy.
Santa Maria, Italy.
Staging Area, Bagnoli.
Santa Maria, Italy.
Paceano, Italy.
Ciampino, Italy (Rome)
Celone, Italy

HEAD Q UARTERS

Platoon

TRANSPORTATION

KITCHEN

HEAVY

MOTOR

ADMINISTRATION

FIRST PLATOON

SECOND PLATOON

THIRD PLATOON

EGELA

The 814th Engineer Battalion (Avn) Separate was born into a troubled world 15 January 1942, at March Field, Calif. A cadre of enlisted men from the 21st Engineer Aviation Regiment formed the nucleus of the battalion. Officer personnel was drawn from miscellaneous sources, and as officers arrived, command of the battalion changed frequently until arrival of Major Henry J. Hooffer. During the months of February March Ft. Leonard Wood ticketed many aspirant engineers to fill the ranks and at the end of March our battalion was nearing its full strength. Days at March Field passed uneventfully, considering the state of hysteria which gripped the West Coast at that time and except for a few air drills life was on a fairly even keel until word got around that the 81st was needed in England. Ecstatic times followed as we prepared for movements in the latter part of May came the first taste of life in a staging area as the scenery changed to Ft. Dix. At Ft. Dix came a period of waiting Army style; interspersed with training, rest, recreation and rumors. Finally at last, orders to embark.

The trip from New York to England will long be remembered by the unfortunates who made it. Everyone expects Army transports to be crowded The Maloja was, and then some. The trip lasted 12 days. Deberking Liverpool we entrained for Muthamstead, Hertfordshire, arriving there the early morning to find the bivouac area entertaining a flock of ducks placidly swimming from tent to tent. Immediately we went on a dawn dark schedule, which, in the summertime, was just about 24 hours a day. However, we still had time to become acquainted with the neighbor people and establishments and to absorb many of their customs. Remember The Woodman's and The Checkers Inn? The English people really tried to please, and many pleasant off duty hours were spent in the company of the local people. We soon found that even though we were living in field conditions the Army had a watchful eye on us, even to observing many prunes went into the garbage cans. The long hours of work soon began to show results as the virgin territory on which we were encamped began to look more and more like an airfield. Then came the day when "strains" began to take up most of our duty time, and rumor-mongering most of off duty hours. Something was in the wind and the 814th was a part of it. Near the end of October we again embarked—destination unknown. On 8 November came the reports of landings in North Africa—we were part of one of the greatest amphibious operations of all time. At 2500 11 November our ships worked their way past the scuttled hulks which cluttered the harbor and tied up at Mers el Kebir. The following day came the hike La Senie. Remember? That night the cold ground cradled many an exhausted body. We were living in the field for certain now. The first days a Senie indicated the pattern of the battalion's operations throughout North Africa. With Battalion Headquarters as the center of confusion companies were sent out to operate on their own. Teferroui, where the mud is famous for its adhesive qualities is one of the spots which will be remembered. Our first Christmas overseas was spent near Sidi-Salem, a mile from Algiers, and our first New Year's. On that day the entire battalion qualified for membership in the 40 & 8 club. Ordered to move on the Tunisian border to prepare advanced fighter fields the battalion loaded itself into an assortment of box cars as was to be found in North Africa, and started the trek to Youks-les-Bains, some 500 miles away. Four days later, wandering over some of the less known right of way of the Chemin de Fer Tunisien our train pulled up, exhausted, at a wayside station. Major Train, with a worried look on his face, went in to see the GTO and was assured that we were not lost. Two days later we arrived at Youks, pup tents were broken out, and once again we were ready for work. But the battalion didn't stay together long. Company "B"'s journey to Sbeitla and Company "A"'s to Kasserine, both along Messerschnitt Lane put them well up in the active zone, where they stayed until the Germans decided to come thru Faid Pass. After things settled down again we moved to the Sbeitla area where Company "C" had the doubtful honor of being out in front of the ground forces. Now the campaign required a series of quickly constructed fields to provide bases from which to attack a rapidly disintegrating enemy. At Sbeitla five fields in five days was the goal—we did it in three and then moved to La Gara. Here the peace caught up with us so we moved to Cape Bon and started collecting souvenirs and counting the fields we had worked on. The total came to 50.

We were late starters in the Sicily campaign, arriving at Gela on 19 July 1945. Originally scheduled to go northeast plans were changed on arrival and instead, after a short delay at Gela, we went west. Our days of advanced fighter fields were over. At Trapani Milo we saw the value of overwhelming air power. Our air force had done an excellent job of bombing, which meant that the problems of rehabilitating the field were considerable. About this time, too, most of us came out of our pup tents and built our own canteens. In Sicily we stayed put pretty well, once we were located. But probably the hardest thing to take was the steady diet of C rations we encountered the first few weeks. Occasional fresh meat was a delicacy. The total of fields built in Sicily was not as impressive as the figure for Africa, but it was a different kind of work, a shift from temporary to permanent construction.

After seeing the invasion of Italy launched in September 1943 we followed in October and arrived in Naples on 27 October, and in Foggia a week later. "Bella Foggia" was to be the scene of our next six months endeavor, though it was well that we did not know it at the time. Mountains of ESP were poured in on top of us and somehow, rain or shine, and very little of the latter, we managed to get it down. As the war moved ahead and we remained behind we were given many opportunities to enjoy the diversions and amusements of a Red Cross club, movies, and USO shows, but Foggia was still Foggia and when the time came to move to France we were not sorry to leave. Arriving at Bagnoli all set to load our equipment we received orders cancelling the movement. Some small measure of compensation was afforded by being ordered to Rome and Grosseto where we had our first opportunity to live under roof since Sidi-Salem. But all too soon we had to turn over our work to another battalion and return to Foggia. It was the same old place.

The 814th Engineer Battalion (Avn) Separate was born into a troubled world 15 January 1943, at March Field, Calif. A cadre of enlisted men from the 21st Engineer Aviation Regiment formed the nucleus of the battalion. Officer personnel was drawn from miscellaneous sources, and as the officers arrived, command of the battalion changed frequently until the arrival of Major Henry J. Hoefler. During the months of February and March Ft. Leonard Wood ticketed many aspirant engineers to fill the ranks and at the end of March our battalion was nearing its full strength. The days at March Field passed uneventfully, considering the state of hysteria which gripped the West Coast at that time and except for a few air raid drills life was on a fairly even keel until word got around that the 814th was needed in England. Ecstic times followed as we prepared for movement; in the latter part of May came the first taste of life in a staging area as the scenery changed to Ft. Dix. At Ft. Dix came a period of waiting, Army style, interspersed with training, rest, recreation and rumors. Then at last, orders to embark.

The trip from New York to England will long be remembered by those unfortunates who made it. Everyone expects Army transports to be crowded. The Maloja was, and then some. The trip lasted 12 days. Debarking at Liverpool we entrained for Nuthampstead, Hertfordshire, arriving there in the early morning to find the bivouac area entertaining a flock of ducks pleidly swimming from tent to tent. Immediately we went on a dawn to dark schedule, which, in the summertime, was just about 24 hours a day. However, we still had time to become acquainted with the neighboring people and establishments and to absorb many of their customs. Remember The Woodman's and The Checkers Inn? The English people really tried hard to please, and many pleasant off duty hours were spent in the company of the local people. We soon found that even though we were living under field conditions the Army had a watchful eye on us, even to observing how many prunes went into the garbage cans. The long hours of work soon began to show results as the virgin territory on which we were encamped began to look more and more like an airfield. Then came the day when "training" began to take up most of our duty time, and rumor-mongering most of our off duty hours. Something was in the wind and the 814th was a part of it. Near the end of October we again embarked--destination unknown. On 8 November came the reports of landings in North Africa--we were part of one of the greatest amphibious operations of all time. At 2200 11 November 1942 our ships worked their way past the scuttled hulks which cluttered Oran harbor and tied up at Mers el Kebir. The following day came the hike to La Senia. Remember? That night the cold ground cradled many an exhausted body. We were living in the field for certain now. The first days at La Senia indicated the pattern of the battalion's operations throughout North Africa. With Battalion Headquarters as the center of confusion companies were sent out to operate on their own. Tafaraoui, where the mud is world famous for its adhesive qualities is one of the spots which will be long remembered. Our first Christmas overseas was spent near Sidi-Salem, a few miles from Algiers, and our first New Years. On that day the entire battalion qualified for membership in the 40 & 8 club. Ordered to move up to the Tunisian border to prepare advanced fighter fields the battalion loaded itself into as ramshackle an assortment of box cars as was to be found in North Africa, and started the trek to Youks-les-Bains, some 300 miles away. Four days later, wandering over some of the less known right of way of the Chemin de Fer Tunisien our train pulled up, exhausted, at a wayside station. Major Train, with a worried look on his face, went in to see the RTO and was assured that we were not lost. Two days later we arrived at Youks, pup tents were broken out, and once again we were ready for work. But the battalion didn't stay together long. Company "B"'s journey to Thelepte and Company "A"'s to Kasserine, both along Messerschmitt Lane put them well up in the active zone, where they stayed until the Germans decided to come thru Faid Pass. After things settled down again we moved to the Sbeitla area where Company "C" had the doubtful honor of being out in front of the ground forces. Now the campaign required a series of quickly constructed fields to provide bases from which to attack a rapidly disintegrating enemy. At Sbeitla five fields in five days was the goal--we did it in three and then moved to La Sars. Here the peace caught up with us so we moved to Gaps Ben and started collecting souvenirs and counting the fields we had worked on. The total came to 50.

We were late starters in the Sicily campaign, arriving at Gela on 19 July 1943. Originally scheduled to go northeast plans were changed on arrival and instead, after a short delay at Gela, we went west. Our days in advanced fighter fields were over. At Trapani Milo we saw the value of overwhelming air power. Our air force had done an excellent job of bombing, which meant that the problems of rehabilitating the field were considerable. About this time, too, most of us came out of our pup tents and built our own cases. In Sicily we stayed put pretty well, once we were located. But probably the hardest thing to take was the steady diet of C rations we encountered the first few weeks. Occasional fresh meat was a delicacy. The total of fields built in Sicily was not as impressive as the figure for Africa, but it was a different kind of work, a shift from temporary to permanent construction.

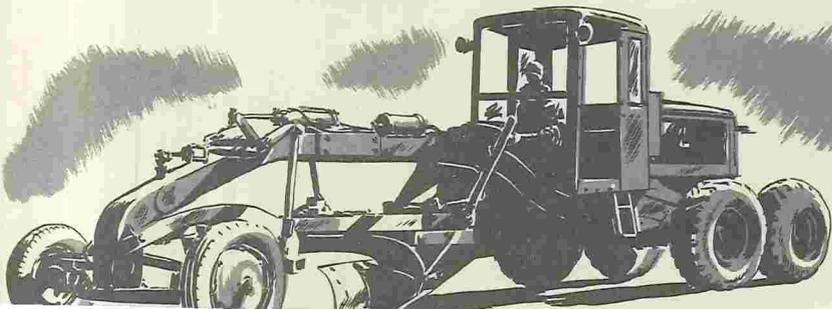

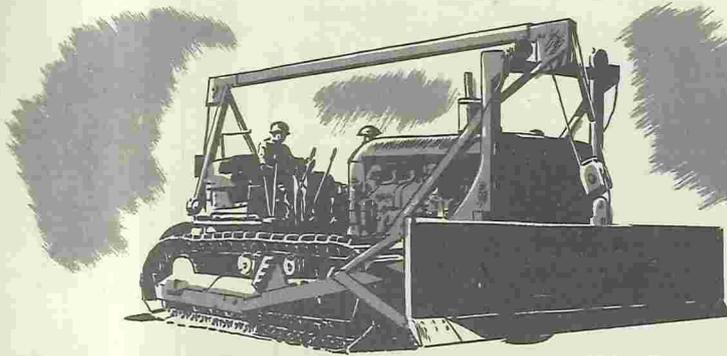

After seeing the invasion of Italy launched in September 1943 we followed in October and arrived in Naples on 27 October, and in Foggia a week later. "Bella Foggia" was to be the scene of our next six months endeavor, though it was well that we did not know it at the time. Mountains of PAP were poured in on top of us and somehow, rain or shine, and very little of the latter, we managed to get it down. As the war moved ahead and we remained behind we were given many opportunities to enjoy the diversions and amusements of a Red Cross club, movies, and USO shows, but Foggia was still Foggia and when the time came to move to France we were not sorry to leave. Arriving at Bagnoli all set to load our equipment we received orders cancelling the movement. Some small measure of compensation was afforded by being ordered to Rome and Grosseto where we had our first opportunity to live under roof since Sidi-Salem. But all too soon we had to turn over our work to another battalion and return to Foggia. It was the same old place.

== B Company ==

H.Q. PLATOON and OFFICERS

First Platoon

Second Platoon

Third Platoon

The ARMY'S MEANEST MAN

C Company

The FIRST SOLDIER

SUPPLY "SGT."

COMPANY OFFICERS

MESS DEAN

SUPPLY

HEADQUARTERS PLATOON

CARPENTERS

DRIVERS

HEAVY EQUIPMENT

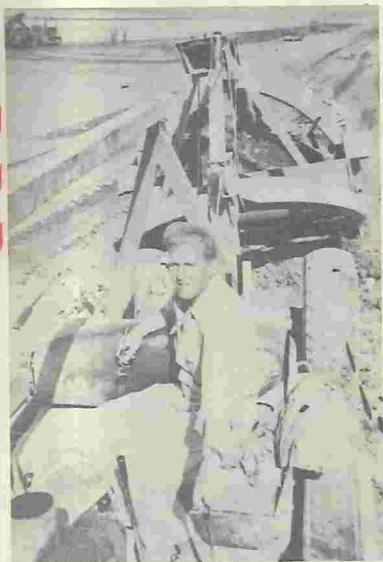

MECHANICS

SHOWERS

COOKS

CARRY ALL AL

1ST PLATOON

BOGO GOES TO TOWN

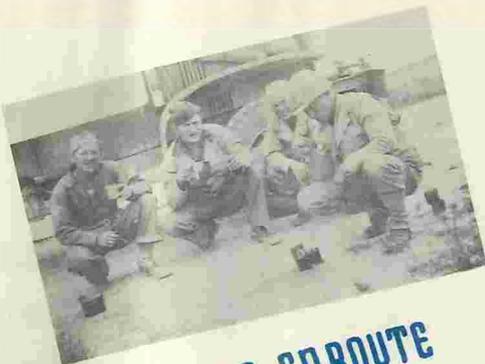

YEE OLDE 'PUT-MOBILE

THE GUARDS & THE CHEST

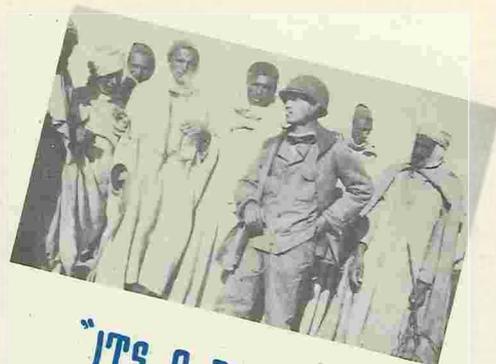

'TAKING 'TEN'

COFFEE ENROUTE

PISTOL HAPPY

"ITS A DEAL"

2ND PLATOON

CASA MIA

NO COHENS JUST KELLEYS

3rd PLATOON

LEAPIN' LONNIE

INSPECTION DAY

DE-MINING CORSICA

WHAT'S NEW?

- ROSTER -

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE MEN THAT HAVE SERVED WITH COMPANY "C" DURING THE PAST THREE YEARS OVERSEAS

ABEL, R.
AGRESTI, J
AITKEN, O.
ALLEN, D.
ALTYC, R.
AMBROSE, D.
AMES, J.
ARMUJO, M.
AUGUSTINE, D.

BACK, R
BAHM, V.
BAILEY, R.
BARRESI, G.
BARTON, R.
BEATTY, S.
BERGE, C.
BILLINGSLEY, V.
BLATNIK, F.
BLAYLOCK, L.
BOETTGER, F.
BONILLAS, A.
BOOKWALTER, R.
BORRA, A.
BOURDAGE, E.
BOYD, D.
BRIDGEWATER, H.
BRUNET, C.
BURETTA, E.
BURCHIN.
BURNS, J.
BUSATTI, M.
BUSH, W.

GALDERA, F.
CAPITUMMINO, S.
CARPENTER, F.
CARTER, W.
CASTER, J.
CEBELLO, A.
GORCIONE, R.
GORLEY, J.
GORRELL, H.
COX, G.
CROSIER, B.
GUNNINGHAM, F.

DAMSHEUSER, C.
DEL GATTO, D.
DOTSON, G.
DUERSCH, N.
DUFF, H.
DUNKER, E.

ENGLISH, C.
ERRICO, C.
EVANS, E.

FADER, R.
FAISON, H.
FAIRCHILD, O.
FARINA, F.
FARNELL, W.
FIELD, J.
FISH, J.
FISHER, R.
FLORES, J.
FDSTER, E.

FRAUENHEIN, W.
FRED, D.
FREY, F.

GADOURY, L.
GAGLIANO, R.
GEORGE, E.
GIRON, F.
GOOSEN, R.
GORICH, M.
GRAY, RAY E.
GRAY, ROBERT E.
GREEN, J.
GRIMALDI, N.
GROSECLOSE, H.

HALL, E.
HANNA, J.
HARMON, R.
HARRIS, A.
HARRIS, T.
HASKIN, R.
HATTENBACH, D.
HAWKEN, J.
HAWKINS, E.
HEATH, A.
HENDERSOON, W.
HESS, M.
HIERS, A.
HOFFMAN, L.
HOLCOMB, J.
HOEVER, L.
HOUSTON, R.
HOWE, L.
HOWELL, R.
HYDE, C.

ISRAEL, N.

JACOBSEN, R.
JENSEN, M.
JOHNSON, E.
JOHNSON, M.
JORDAN, E.
JORDAN, W.

KACZMAREK, G.
KANARICH, P.
KELLEY, D.
KELLEY, W.
KENEDY, A.
KINSEL, T.
KLEIN, J.
KNIGHT, J.
KONITSNEY, A.
KORDYZDN, A.
KOVAL, E.
KRAKEL, E.

LABANE, L.
LANHAM, L.
LANZA, R.
LARRANAGA, R.
LARSON, G.
LA RUSSO, A.
LEAKE, R.
LEIKAM, L.
LEMON, S.
LIPPERT, A.

LOESCH, R.
LONKEY, G.
LOPEZ, E.
LOSLI, R.
LUNDBERG, F.

MACARI, J.
MACKEY, G.
MAGNESS, C.
MARSINK, E.
MATULEVICH, J.
MATUZAK, F.
MC BRIEN, W.
MC GUINNESS, W.
MC GUIRE, W.
MC KEON, E.
MC KILLICAN, J.
MC MILLIAN, C.
MEADER, R.
MEADOR, H.
MEGGINSON, J.
MELBERG, N.
MELLINGER, J.
MELTON, T.
MENCAVAGE, J.
MENDENHALL, R.
MIGHALSKI, M.
MILLER, J.
MILLER, R.
MOLDEN, F.
MONROE, E.
MONTGOMERY, J.
MOODY, H.
MORRIS, L.
MORRISON, G.
MORTON, C.
MULDER, E.

NADLONY, I.
NADOLSKI, P.
NATLEGEN, E.
NELSON, E.
NICHOLS, S.
NOE, O.

O'KEEFE, J.
O'NEAL, J.
OROPEZA, E.
ORTIZ, H.

PAGE, T.
PALERMO, A.
PARISE, L.
PARKER, E.
PARRIS, G.
PASCAL, C.
PATILLO, R.
PATTERSON, N.
PAUL, A.
PELLETIER, R.
PETRYKOWSKI, L.
PIEKUTOWSKI, E.
PINASCO, J.
POMERANTZ, B.
POWELL, W.
PROCTOR, H.

QUENETTE, A.

RANDDLPH, W.
RAS, W.
RAWLINDSON, L.
ROBERSON, J.
RDRRIGUEZ, H.
ROGERS, E.
ROSE, E.
ROTE, J.

SALVI, N.
SAMSON, A.
SASKOWSKI, H.
SHARP, R.
SHAW, D.
SHDCKEY, D.
SIMONSON, G.
SISSON, J.
SMOSK, F.
SPDNLER, J.
SPOOLSTRA, C.
SPRINGMAN, N.
SPULAK, A.
STEINBERG, L.
STEPHENS, W.
STEWART, R.
STICKLER, A.
STOKES, J.
SWAFFORD, D.
SWEENEY, J.

TALEVI, A.
TEINERT, G.
TOLLEFSON, H.
TUTWILER, V.

VAN RIPER, C.
VAN SICKEL, E.
VINCENT, J.

WATSON, G.
WEIR, J.
WERNER, C.
WESTLAKE, R.
WESTON, R.
WETHERBEE, P.
WILLIAMSDN, W.
WISE, W.
WITHERSPODN, J.
WITTE, G.
WITTIG, H.
WOLDT, M.
WOOD, S.
WYMAN, F.

YOST, M.
YOUNG, O.

ZDRECHAK, H.

DECEASED

CONNORS, L.
MAY 26, 1943

WELLS, A.
NOVEMBER 14, 1943

WHITNEY, C.
APRIL 29, 1943

IN MEMORIAM

- |                |              |
|----------------|--------------|
| Col. Little    | Moomau       |
| Capt. Speicher | Munaw        |
| Capt. Hackett  | Ochampaugh   |
| Lt. Maes       | H. Valentine |
| Beidler        | Wasser       |
| Connors        | Wells        |
| Dombrowski     | Whitney      |
| Hamrick        |              |

Ericson

Lindner

Perhalla

Ross

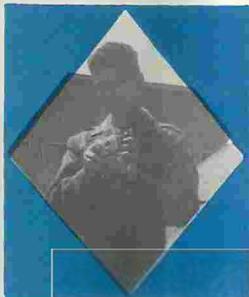

Wisnieski

Jurgens

Piedt

Silbaugh

Jernigan

Capt. Stolcis

Lt. Jecmen

MEDICAL DETACHMENT

MEMBERS NOT PICTURED

Capt. Barrett
Capt. Thaler
Sporleder

Capt. Mannerstedt
Skaggs
Nelson
Guenther

Havorka
Payne
Oliveira

Mermelstein, Brimhall

Watson, Lindner

Curt and Bettrott

XMAS DINNER 1943-- FOGGIA, ITALY

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICAL

MEMBERS NOT PICTURED

